Preface by the Children, Young People and Families Partnership

The Chief Officers of the public sector organisations in Perth and Kinross, Elected Members of Perth and Kinross Council and the NHS Tayside Board are pleased to support the Perth and Kinross Child Protection Committee (CPC) Standards and Quality Report 2015 / 2016.

Our individual and collective commitment to the protection of children and young people in Perth and Kinross remains paramount. It is our firm belief that safeguarding, supporting and promoting the wellbeing of all children and young people and protecting them from harm and abuse is everyone's job. We take this responsibility very seriously and we are committed to closing the attainment gap, tackling inequalities and minimising the impact of child poverty.

Getting it right for every child remains a key approach to achieving our vision of enabling all children and young people to be the best they can be.

The Children, Young People and Families Partnership (CYP&FP) continues to provide robust leadership; direction; governance; scrutiny; challenge and support to the CPC. Over the last year, we have scrutinised the work of the CPC regularly and our strengthened partnership working is improving outcomes.

As a partnership group we are committed to continuous improvement through self-evaluation. We remain vigilant and we are pleased that this report shows our services continue to improve. We are however, not complacent and together with the CPC, we strive to ensure continuous improvement and to realise fully our capacity for improvement.

We acknowledge the efforts of the CPC, members of the CPC Sub Groups, wider child protection community and all staff across the public, private, third and independent sectors, whose commitment, dedication and hard work is achieving better outcomes for vulnerable children and young people at risk of harm and abuse.

We commend and endorse this CPC Standards and Quality Report for 2015 / 2016.

Introduction by the Chair of Perth and Kinross CPC

Welcome to our CPC Standards and Quality Report 2015 / 2016. This report covers the period 1 August 2015 to 31 July 2016.

I am very pleased to present this high-level, overview report, of our multi-agency activity for the past year. This report presents the findings from an ever-increasing range of single and joint self-evaluation activities which are focussed on prevention; early intervention; keeping safe and taking action to protect children and young people from harm, abuse and exploitation.

This report identifies our achievements; key strengths and areas for further improvement and we remain confident that our approach to joint self-evaluation is evidence-based; focused firmly on improving wellbeing and frontline practice and there is increasing evidence of this across all services in Perth and Kinross.

We know what works; what can work better; how good we are now and how good we can be. As a result, this report concludes that our capacity for continued improvement remains strong.

Once again, 2015 / 2016 has been a very demanding and challenging year for the CPC. Our work has continued against an ever-changing / dynamic legislative, policy and practice environment; an integration agenda and both organisational and transformational change. Earlier this year, Scottish Ministers announced a comprehensive review of the child protection system in Scotland and at the time of publication that work is now underway.

Nevertheless, this report shows we have continued to deliver our services to protect children and young people effectively and efficiently. We have continued to develop our partnership working; to build our child protection community and to develop our community approach quality assurance and self-evaluation. Together, we are supporting a partnership approach to create a hostile environment and zero-tolerance to abuse and exploitation.

The Child Protection Committee has identified its improvement priorities for the year ahead. Last year, we set an ambitious three-year plan for improvement and I am confident that this will build on our track record of strong performance in the protection of children and young people in Perth and Kinross.

The hard work, commitment and dedication of all our staff is outstanding and they are making a positive difference to, and improving the life chances of all children, young people and families across Perth and Kinross.

Executive Summary – What key outcomes have we achieved and how are we improving?

This report reflects the extensive range of activity in Perth and Kinross to achieve the vision of keeping children and young people safe and enabling them to be the best they can be.

It demonstrates effective partnership working and the commitment of Elected Members, Chief Officers, the Child Protection Committee (CPC) and our wider child protection community to achieve high standards in all areas of our work. It reflects the work of a very energetic child protection community and a highly committed CPC support team.

We are confident that our performance overall is safeguarding, supporting and promoting the wellbeing of all children and young people and is protecting them from harm and abuse.

We know that:

- our services to protect children and young people are robust and focus on wellbeing, vulnerability, risks and needs
- there is a very strong commitment at every level to tackle inequalities and to improve the life chances of all children, young people and families
- our practices are flexible, evidence-based, informed by policy, quality assurance and self-evaluation
- our staff respond to children, young people and families in ways which keep them safe and promote their wellbeing
- we are supporting, developing and empowering a highly committed, competent and confident workforce
- we are a learning CPC which is transparent and public-facing

The work presented in this report is a summary of our key outcomes. The improvements identified in this report underpin our confidence in our collective capacity for continuous improvement through self-evaluation.

The CPC has made significant progress in taking forward the high level actions / tasks in the Improvement Plan. Whilst much has been achieved, there remains more to do. The CPC continues to implement its ambitious programme of change and improvement and this report demonstrates what has been achieved over the last year.

The statistical data in this report shows that the number of children and young people for whom there is a child concern is growing. This means we cannot afford to be complacent and presents us with a constant challenge to respond at early stage and to ensure that we provide advice, support and assistance to safeguard, support and promote their wellbeing and to prevent their difficulties from getting worse. The data also show that while the numbers of new registrations on the Child Protection Register have reduced, the complexity of risk factors continues to present challenges across the partnership.

Context

This section sets out our shared and ambitious vision, values and aims. It briefly describes the national and local context within which we deliver our services for children, young people and families.

"In areas which are performing well, leaders continue to provide strong, collective ownership of a common purpose and shared values for delivering the best possible outcomes for children and young people in need of protection. Chief officers and child protection committees are making strenuous efforts to steer services through the challenges associated with sustaining what is working well and implementing change for improvement through integrated working. Placing the emphasis on protecting children and young people within the wider public protection agenda has been highly effective in delivering better outcomes for children and young people through safer communities"

"Strong links between the work of child protection committees and strategic groups which lead integrated children's services planning helps place protection of children and young people at the centre of wider strategies to improve their wellbeing. This provides a helpful interface between child protection and other planning arrangements for services for children and supports steady and incremental advancement in successful and collaborative partnership working"

Vision, Values and Aims

Elected Members, Chief Officers, the Child Protection Committee and partner agencies are working together effectively to keep children safe. Our Vision is to enable all children and young people to be the best they can be. We are committed to getting it right for every child by working to keep them safe; healthy; achieving; nurtured; active; respected; responsible and included.

National Context

The Scottish Government wants Scotland to be the best place in the world for children and young people to grow up so that they become: successful learners; confident individuals; effective contributors and responsible citizens.

All children and young people (including unborn babies) have the right to be cared for; protected from harm and abuse and to grow up in a safe environment in which their rights are respected and their wellbeing needs are met. Children and young people should get the help they need, when they need it, for as long as they need it. They should also get the right help, at the right time, from the right people and their welfare is always paramount.

Most children and young people get all the help and support they need from their parents, carers and families, in addition to the universal services of education and health. However, on some occasions, some children and young people may need further help and support in order to safeguard, support and promote their wellbeing and to protect them from harm and abuse.

Local Context

Within in Perth and Kinross, supporting the wellbeing of all children and young people and protecting them from harm and abuse is everyone's job and everyone's responsibility. We consider this to be a shared responsibility for all practitioners and managers working across the public, private and third sectors.

Wellbeing sits at the heart of the Getting it right for every child (GIRFEC) approach. GIRFEC is the national approach in Scotland to improving outcomes and supporting the wellbeing of all our children and young people, by offering the right help, at the right time, from the right people. GIRFEC has its origins in the United Nations Convention on the Rights of the Child (UNCRC), which outlines the rights of children and young people to have their basic needs met and to reach their full potential. GIRFEC puts the rights and wellbeing of all children and young people at the heart of the services that support them.

Child protection is not something which sits separately from wellbeing. Protecting children and young people is an integral part of the wider Getting it right for every child approach. Both are inextricably linked and prerequisite to improving outcomes for children and young people.

Protecting a child or young person from abuse or neglect sits within a spectrum of early intervention and effective family support.

Under the auspices of the Community Planning Framework, the Perth and Kinross Community Plan / Single Outcome Agreement 2013 - 2023 and the Perth and Kinross Integrated Children's Services Plan 2013 - 2018 are the key strategic plans for all services for children, young people and families in Perth and Kinross.

Our Strategic Objectives and Local Outcomes for 2013 – 2023 form the golden thread for all of our work to improve the lives of children, young people and families by ensuring that:

- Children have the best start in life
- Families are nurtured and supported
- Young people reach their potential
- People are ready for life and work
- Employment opportunities for all
- Longer healthier lives for all
- Resilient, responsible and safe communities
- People in vulnerable circumstances are protected

The Perth and Kinross Integrated Childen's Services Plan 2013 - 2018 identifies the priorities and actions across services for children, young people and their families for the next five years around eight key themes:

- 1. GIRFEC Getting it Right for Every Child
- 2. Participation and Engagement
- 3. Early Years
- 4. Parenting
- 5. Corporate Parenting
- 6. Child Protection Keeping Children Safe
- 7. Learning and Achievement
- 8. Workforce Development

The Work of the Child Protection Committee (CPC)

The work of Perth and Kinross Child Protection Committee is fundamental to ensuring better outcomes for our most vulnerable children and young people who are in need of protection from abuse, neglect and exploitation.

Underpinning the work of the CPC is the National Guidance for Child Protection in Scotland 2014 (Scottish Government: 2014) and two quality improvement frameworks for services to protect children: How well do we protect children and meet their needs? (HM Inspectorate of Education: 2009) and How well are we improving the lives of children and young people? (Care Inspectorate: 2014).

The National Guidance for Child Protection in Scotland 2014 describes the functions of Child Protection Committees as continuous improvement, strategic planning and public information and communication.

Continuous Improvement

- Policies, Procedures and Protocols
- Self-Evaluation in Improving Services to Protect Children
- Promoting Good Practice
- Learning and Development

Strategic Planning

- Communication, Collaboration and Co-operation
- Making and Maintaining Links with Other Planning Fora

Public Information and Communication

- Raising Public Awareness
- Involving Children and Young People and their Families

Over the last year, members of the Child Protection Committee along with Chief Officers revisited the purpose, roles and responsibilities of the committee and how these are taken forward. The committee keep its membership and the work of its sub groups under regular review

Management Information and Performance Outcomes

This section describes the findings from our CPC multi-agency management information and performance outcome framework and reports on headline messages for 2015 - 2016.

Evaluation: We are confident that, children and young people in need of care and protection are getting the help they need; when they need it and that we are improving their wellbeing, their life-chances and keeping them safe from harm and abuse.

"CPCs have continued to develop systematic and rigorous approaches to joint self-evaluation using relevant quality improvement frameworks such as How well do we protect children and meet their needs? published by HMIE in 2009 and How well are we improving the lives of children and young people? published by the Care Inspectorate in 2012. This is providing them with a detailed, shared understanding of strengths as well as priorities for improvement. In turn, this is helping services sustain what is working well and at the same time embrace new, improved ways of working"

A report on the effectiveness of child protection arrangements in Scotland (Care Inspectorate: November 2014)

"The CPC could benefit from further developing management information to enable partners to demonstrate how their performance in public protection is improving over time. Leaders are confident that outcomes for individual children in need of protection are improved as a result of the services they receive. They recognise that developing a more systematic approach to aggregating this information using a set of outcome indicators would help them to show overall improvements in safety and wellbeing"

> Effectiveness of the CPC in Perth and Kinross Council Area: Report to Scottish Ministers (Emma McWilliam, Link Inspector, Care Inspectorate: March 2014)

Background Information and Context

Perth and Kinross CPC publishes Child Protection and Looked-After Children Management Information and Statistical Reports on an academic year basis (August to July), in compliance with Scottish Government's annual reporting requirements.

On 1 August 2015, we introduced a robust and meaningful multi-agency CPC Management Information and Performance Outcome Framework.

The framework, which reflects both Getting it right for every child and child protection processes, includes key performance indicators across key partners and includes output indicators (quantitative indicators showing frequency and volume) and proxy outcome indicators (qualitative indicators showing improved outcomes).

The framework provides the CPC with quarterly reports and a more robust and comprehensive annual performance report and represents a significant improvement led by the CPC. This framework continues to evolve and develop, in compliance with GIRFEC and the requirements of The Children and Young People (Scotland) Act 2014.

The framework also allows the CPC to effectively monitor key child protection processes and practices and to provide reassurance to the CYP&FP.

In addition to these quarterly and annual CPC performance management reports, a new Thematic (cyclical) Approach to Performance Reporting has been agreed with the CYP&FP.

Aimed at achieving better outcomes for children and young people, this thematic approach to reporting has four key strands: health and development; improving the life chances of vulnerable children and young people; quality of life; and contextual / inequalities information and education outcomes. Child protection features as a priority for the CYP&FP and quarterly thematic reports are now provided to the CYP&FP for assurance and scrutiny purposes.

Headline Messages 2015 - 2016

For the purposes of this report, we will present only the headline messages from our CPC Management Information and Performance Outcome Framework. These are presented for the academic year 01 August 2015 - 31 July 2016 and, where possible, compared with previous years.^{2 3}

The total number of Child Concern Reports (CCRs) has risen significantly over the last year, in line with the priority to intervene early to support children, young people and families.

Child Concern Reports (CCRs)⁴

CCRs have risen for all children under 16, particularly in relation to 11-15 year olds.

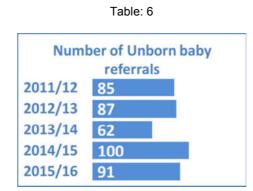

Source of Child Concern Reports (CCRs)

The main source of CCRs continues to be Police Scotland (possibly as a result of the implementation and embedding of their Vulnerable Persons Database (iVPD) and their proactive approach to prevention and early intervention), followed by Health Services and Education. Overall, these three groups account for 85% of all CCRs submitted. The sharpest increase (68% from last year) has been from Police Scotland.

² Note: Since August 2011, Child Protection statistical information has been reported on an Academic Yearly basis (August to July) in compliance with Scottish Government Guidance.

⁴ Note: Child Concern Reports (CCRs) may relate to aspects of child wellbeing, which are screened and shared proportionality with staff in Police, Health, Education and Social Work through the Multi-Agency Screening Group (MASG). Child Protection Concerns are escalated and managed via Multi-Agency Child Protection Procedures.

The number of referrals for unborn babies has remained steady since 2011, with a drop in 2013/2014.⁵

Investigations and Initial Child Protection Case Conferences

The number of Child Protection Investigations continues to rise year-on-year. The 152 child protection investigations related to 218 separate children and young people.

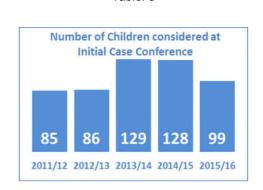

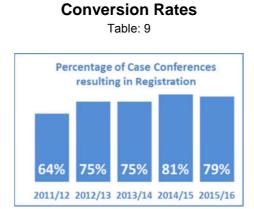

Table: 8

The number of individual children and young people considered at an Initial Child Protection Case Conference has dropped and represents a small proportion (2%) of the total CCRs.

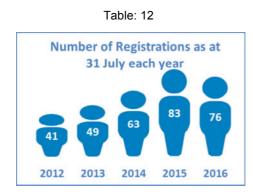

⁵ Unborn Baby Referrals considered by the Multi-Agency Screening Group (MASG).

Registration Rates

The number of children and young people placed on the CPR has fallen over the last year.

The number of children and young people on the CPR has fallen slightly after a large increase in 2015, which was partly due to several large sibling groups being registered. Registrations include temporary registrations (these are for children who move into Perth & Kinross Council area for a limited period for a holiday with relatives, for example).

Children aged 0-4 continue to make up the largest age group with 39 (45%) of registrations.

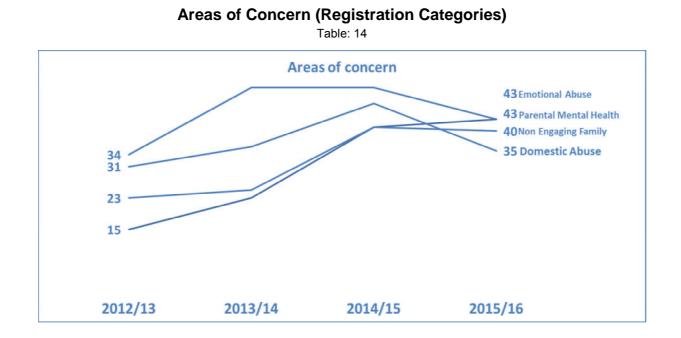

Most registrations last less than a year, with 22 out of 120 children and young people removed from the CPR in 2015/2016 having been on the CPR for 12 months or more. In comparison to last year, more children and young people are staying on the CPR for longer, which may be an indication of the increasing complexity of the risk factors experienced.

Over the last year there has been a significant increase in the number of Child Concerns Reports being submitted. This is in keeping with the ethos of Getting it Right in Perth and Kinross. The number of child protection investigations has also continued to rise.

The findings from the Review of Child Protection Decision Making in 2015/2016 indicated that earlier intervention had a positive bearing on the protective actions taken in advance of the decision to hold a Child Protection Case Conference to place a child or young person's name on the CPR. There are indications that the level of needs and risks is greater and more complex and this is shown in the increase in the length of time children and young people are retained on the CPR.

Areas of Concern⁶

⁶ Totals less than 5 have been supressed.

More than one area of concern can be identified for each child or young person placed on the CPR. There has been a noteworthy decrease over the last year in the number of children and young people whose names are included on the CPR and who are affected by domestic abuse and parental drug and/or alcohol misuse.

The most common Household Characteristics are In Receipt of Welfare Benefits and Unemployment, which are the same as last year. Household Characteristics for children on the CPR register are recorded by the Chair of the Child Protection Case Conference and more than one category can be recorded for each registration.

Scottish Children's Reporter Administration (SCRA)

The number of children and young people referred to SCRA is dropping, in line with a national trend. The number of Child Protection Orders (CPOs) has also dropped following an increase in 2014/15. The number of Compulsory Supervision Orders (CSOs) has again risen, opposed to a generally downward national trend.

The Locality Reporter Manager confirms that children and young people referred meet the threshold for Compulsory Measures of Care. However these are small numbers and are subject to large short term variations.

How well do we meet the needs of our stakeholders?

This section describes the impact we are having on the wellbeing of children and young people; how we are keeping them safe and the extent to which their lives and life chances have been enhanced. It describes the impact on families and the extent to which family wellbeing has been strengthened. It describes the impact on staff and recognises the extent of their motivation, involvement and contribution. It also considers the impact on the community and the extent of their participation, engagement and confidence across Perth and Kinross.

"The most effective child protection committees have adopted sound quality assurance systems, jointly monitor performance and implement systematic and rigorous self-evaluation using relevant quality improvement frameworks. We found a high level of commitment to quality improvement through joint multi-agency self-evaluation led by child protection committees. We also found encouraging evidence that this was becoming much more firmly embedded and carried out systematically, often conducted within a programme or cycle of evaluation"

A report on the effectiveness of child protection arrangements in Scotland (Care Inspectorate: November 2014)

Quality Improvement Framework

The continuous improvement through self-evaluation work of the CPC continues to be underpinned by the following quality improvement frameworks:

- How well do we protect children and meet their needs? published by HMIE in 2009
- How well are we improving the lives of children and young people? published by the Care Inspectorate in 2014

The following Quality Indicators are those used by the CPC to evaluate the impact of single and multi-agency child protection processes and practices on children and young people, families, staff and the community:

Quality Indicator Framework 2009

- QI 2.1 Children and young people are listened to, understood and respected
- QI 2.2 Children and young people benefit from strategies to minimise harm
- QI 2.3 Children and young people are helped by the actions taken in immediate response to concerns
- QI 2.4 Children and young people's needs are met
- QI 5.2 Information sharing and recording

Quality Indicator Framework 2014

- QI 2.1 Impact on children and young people
- QI 2.2 Impact on families
- QI 3.1 Impact on staff
- QI 4.1 Impact on the community
- QI 5.1 Providing help and support at an early stage
- QI 5.2 Assessing and responding to risks and needs
- QI 5.3 Planning for individual children and young people
- QI 5.4 Involving individual children, young people and families

Impact on Children, Young People and Families

Evaluation: We are confident that we listen carefully, understand and respect children, young people and their families and that we are helping them to keep themselves safe. A range of early intervention and family support services are improving children and family wellbeing.

The following activities from our continuous improvement through self-evaluation programme and demonstrate the impact of our work on children and families:

Review of Decision making in Child Protection 2016

Since 2002, the CPC has been carrying out annual quality assurance self-evaluations of key child protection processes. One element of this has included an annual multi-agency review of child protection practice through and examination of minutes of meetings and supporting documentation such as Assessment Reports and Child's Plan used by Child Protection Case Conference and Core Group meetings.

Year-on-year, the findings have been fairly consistent in terms of identifying key strengths and areas for development. We also recognised that this was small-scale, albeit an in depth review and evaluation and we set about improving this.

Following on from very helpful and constructive feedback received from Elected Members and Chief Officers in response to last year's CPC Standards and Quality Report, the CPC decided to take a broader, systematic multi-agency approach to evaluating key child protection processes and practices.

We committed ourselves to a whole-system approach which included:

- review and quality assurance of all Child Protection Case Conferences which did not result in the child's name being placed on the child protection register (CPR)
- systematic review and quality assurance of all children whose names were removed from the CPR in less than 6 months
- systematic review and quality assurance of all children whose names were retained on the CPR for more than 12 months.

This year we recruited a number of new and existing multi-agency practitioners and managers (15) to act as Assessors. We also invited Safaa Baxter, Independent Chair of South Lanarkshire CPC and former Head of Children and Families and Criminal Justice (CSWO) in East Renfrewshire to participate and to provide additional independence.

We also adopted a more refined methodology which included a focus on:

- Quality Indicator 2.1 Impact on children and young people (focus on safe, healthy and nurtured)
- Quality Indicator 5.2 Assessing and reposing to risks and needs (focus on assessment of risks and needs)
- Quality Indicator 5.3 Planning for individual children and young people (focus on quality, reviewing progress, multi-agency decision making and securing stable and caring environments)

• Quality Indicator 5.4 - Involving individual children, young people and families (seeking and recording views).

This was a retrospective multi-agency review of practice which took place in June / July 2016.

The period of scrutiny was August 2014 - July 2015. In total, decision making relating to 63 individual children and young people (including unborn babies and sibling groups) was reviewed and evaluated. The sample was a demographic and geographical representative sample from across Perth and Kinross and this represented a significant increase from our previous sample of 18 (239% increase) from last year. The sample included:

- all those children and young people (21) who had been considered by an Initial CPCC and whose names had not placed on the CPR
- a random sample (21) of children and young people who had been considered by a CPCC and whose names had been placed / retained on the CPR for less than six months
- all those children and young people (21) who had been considered by a CPCC and whose names had been placed / retained on the CPR for twelve months or more within the specified timeframe (01/05/2015 31/07/2015).

This review focussed on two particular aspects of practice - the quality of multi-agency decision making and the consistency of response.

In terms of impact, the high-level findings from this exercise are:

Key Strengths

- in addition to the requirement to ensure safety, children and young people's wellbeing needs were also being addressed
- early intervention was effective and prevented the need for registration as risks had been reduced at an early stage
- immediate action was taken to ensure the protection of children and young people
- in almost all cases there was strong evidence of partnership working and excellent information sharing
- there was positive use of multi-agency risk assessment and robust plans were in place for the majority of children
- recognised frameworks were used to assess need and risk e.g. resilience framework, risk matrix
- repeated reference was made to 'trusted adults' and the importance of this to enabling the participation and successful engagement of children, young people and their families
- very clear plans in place and outcomes defined
- growing evidence of wider use of the 'Child's Plan' to record co-ordinated action (regardless of registration of child)
- evidence of commitment to the core groups from a range of partners and from parents and carers
- positive action by family was repeatedly noted as supporting progress for children
- good evidence of collated chronologies which were helpful in identifying patterns and risks
- children and young people's views were expressed, documented and clear evidence of records being very child-centred and this was reflected in the majority of records
- there was strong emphasis on obtaining and recording of the views of the child and their parents.

Areas for Development

- more could be done to consider health and general wellbeing issues in the early stages of the child protection process; however, this becomes much more evident once a child or young person has been part of the child protection process for 6 months or more)
- need to ensure that the impact of intervention is clearly recorded and can provide evidence of improvement in circumstances prior to decisions being made to deregister a child or young person
- there was a tendency to promote parenting capacity assessments even when there was evidence that the likelihood of change was limited (optimism about capacity for parental change)
- further work is required to ensure more active engagement of fathers and male carers
- in some cases children and young people remained on the CPR for more than 12 months when risks had not been reduced sufficiently
- Child's Plans needed to be SMARTer with clearer timescales
- a wider range of approaches can be used to seek the experience and views of very young children aged 2-5 years
- introduce interactive mechanisms to capture views of children e.g. tablets, apps etc
- introduce standardised formats for staff to report on progress.

Conclusions

This was a robust and rigorous review which explored key elements of child protection processes. The high level findings demonstrate consistently high standards of multi-agency practice - particularly in respect of partnership working; information sharing; building and sustaining trusted relationships; assessment of needs and risks; respectful communication, and recording the views of children and families.

The recent introduction of the Child's Plan and Chronology Guidance is already contributing to improvement in multi-agency planning and decision making. *W*ork is already underway to improve the existing CPCC Reporting Templates.

Child Protection Case Conference - Refresher Training for Chairs 2016

Last year we reported on the need to carry out the above refresher training, which has now completed. Moira McKinnon, Social Work Consultant and Independent Chair of Argyll and Bute CPC, carried out this one-day training in early 2016; which all Improvement Officers and some Team Leaders from Services for Children, Young People and Families attended. Overall the training was evaluated as very helpful in improving practice. In terms of impact, the following is a snapshot of the feedback:

CPCC Core Group Chairing - Refresher Training - Comments / Feedback

"allowed me an opportunity to reflect on my chairing - ideas for creative ways of focusing on risk management in a more inclusive way"

"I have begun to look at how I chair meetings - putting things on the table - real discussions - around the real issues"

"the case conference is not a social work meeting - a multi-agency one so I will now ensure I involve everybody more in the shared decisions we make"

Keeping Children Safe Survey: Local Authority Schools Sector 2016

This year we repeated the annual How Good is Our School at Helping Me to Stay Safe Survey across the Perth and Kinross Council Primary and Secondary Schools between May and June 2016.

This year we are presenting the year-on-year comparative results and also showing them separately for primary and secondary schools; albeit both surveys had very slight age-specific and dependent question differences.

In total 4,811 children and young people took part in the survey (compared to 1,740 in 2015 an increase of 176%). 3,139 (65%) were of primary school age and 1,672 (35%) were of secondary school age.

In terms of impact, the following Tables provide a comparative snapshot analysis between the 2016 and 2015 (greyed-out figures) surveys:

Conclusions

Taking into consideration the significant variation in the year-on-year sample size; whilst acknowledging that different primary and secondary school cohorts took part and the % variations between 2015 and 2016, overall the findings remain relatively consistent and very positive.

Table No: 20 clearly demonstrate that overall children and young people have a good awareness and understanding about keeping themselves and others safe; have a good knowledge of where and when to seek help and a general confidence that they would get the help they need when they needed it.

However, some of the % differentials between the primary and secondary school cohorts do suggest there is a continued need for support to be provided in all schools, particularly around keeping safe online; in the community and the need for further reassurance.

Table No: 21 whilst demonstrating an overall good awareness and understanding about the impact of alcohol and drugs and a good understanding of sexual health and relationships (secondary schools only), it also identifies the need to continue these preventative alcohol, drugs and sexual health educational programmes in all our schools.

As would be expected, children and young people in secondary schools reported an overall higher percentage understanding of these matters than those in primary schools. This year, schools are being provided with individualised evaluation reports to inform their improvement programmes for 2016 - 2017. The CPC plans to share these findings with E2S Officers; with the ADP Children and Young People Group and will repeat this survey next year.

NSPCC Schools Service 2015 - 2016 / NSPCC "Speak out. Stay safe. Programme" 2016 - 2017

Last year we reported on the continued rollout of the NSPCC Schools Service across Perth and Kinross Council Primary Schools (P6 and P7) and plans to extend this Service to younger children in all PKC Primary Schools and to the Perth and Kinross Independent Schools sector.

The NSPCC Schools Service, first launched in January 2011, continues to work across Scotland and the UK to ensure that children:

- understand abuse in all its forms and recognise the signs of abuse
- know how to protect themselves from all forms of abuse
- know how to get help and the sources of help available to them including the Childline Service.

By 31 May 2016, the NSPCC Schools Service has been delivered to 2,958 schools in Scotland, (visiting many of these more than once) and 147,118 children. The programme provides child-friendly, interactive assemblies and workshops, which are delivered by specially trained NSPCC volunteers.

Since November 2013, the Service has been delivered in a number of PKC Primary Schools and has been evaluated highly by pupils and teaching staff alike. During the academic year 2015 -2016, the Service was delivered in 30 PKC Primary Schools, including Fairview School. The Service was also delivered at Strathallan and Kilgraston Independent Schools. In total, almost 900 children in P6 and P7 participated in the Service in this reporting period.

In 2016 the NSPCC Schools Service was re-launched as the "Speak out. Stay safe. Programme". It continues to be delivered, free of charge, by the NSPCC, at the point of delivery and remains a key part of the CPC's approach to keeping children and young people safe and protected from harm, abuse and exploitation.

From August 2016, this Programme will be offered to every PKC Primary School, every two years. A feature of this new Programme is that an extended offer is now made to all primary schools: engagement with the whole school community – children, teachers, parents and carers to ensure that every child in the UK is better protected.

A new resource has also been developed so that children from across the whole school population have the opportunity to understand abuse and know how to keep themselves safe. An assembly is now offered to pupils in P1-P3 and to pupils P4-P7, as well as the original workshop still being offered to pupils in P6 & P7. This extended Programme will be piloted in Perth & Kinross in September 2016, with a view to it being offered across Perth and Kinross thereafter.

The NSPCC will also offer resources for teachers, parents and carers and will work in partnership with schools to ensure that they are the safest environment for children. The NSPCC will also provide schools with valuable resources for their parents and carers, for example the Underwear Rule and Share Aware materials.

During 2015 - 2016 the NSPCC withdrew their online pupil evaluation, However, in terms of impact, the following Table provides a snapshot of feedback received from PKC Teaching staff:

School	School Staff - Comments / Feedback
Balhousie Primary School	"Very useful IT resources. Power-point was effective and made children focus. Questioning in smaller groups was effective to ensure all children were engaging. Thank you"
St Ninian's Episcopal Primary School	"Session made them think more about what constitutes abuse and what is actually not acceptable"
	"Children in class were very interested and engaged"
Stanley Primary School	"Children had good discussions and questions during the workshops" "The activities were a good mix of listening, watching and being active" "A valuable service, presented by people who know everything about Childline"
Kirkmichael Primary School	"Well presented with thought provoking discussions" "Very professional presenters and engaged all the childrenfriendly, reassuring but authoritative"

Annual Safety Awareness Survey – School Pupil Transition Days 2016

This year we carried out our fifth annual safety awareness survey with those children and young people in transition between primary school P7 and secondary school S1 in June 2016. This year, we extended the scope of the survey across Perth and Kinross to cover transitions to all Secondary Schools

In total 749 primary school children and young people (compared with 466 last year an increase of 61%) took time to complete our survey; being the highest total number we have recorded to date for this survey. Respondents did not necessarily answer each and every survey question.

In terms of impact, the following Table provide a cumulative comparative analysis between this year and last year's (greyed-out figures) surveys:

Conclusions

Overall, the findings this year remain consistent with the findings from previous surveys and remain extremely positive.

However, in relation to question 4, 10% of respondents reported that they disagreed / strongly disagreed and / or did not know about who best to contact if they were worried about someone else. In relation to question 5, 18% of respondents reported that they were not confident / did not know if their concern would be taken seriously. This indicates a need for continual reinforcement of key messages to children about where they can share their worries and how these will be managed.

In response to the additional question asked this year, 241 (32%) of respondents reported there was still a need to protect children and young people from bullying.

Schools are being provided with an evaluation report to inform their improvement programmes for 2016 - 2017. The CPC plans to repeat this survey next year.

Getting it Right: Keeping Your Child Safe Event 2016

Last year we reported on the fourth annual Getting it Right: Keeping Your Child Safe Event.

This year we held our fifth annual event on 5 March 2016 in the Playhouse Cinema, Perth. This popular event continues to be targeted at inter-agency practitioners and parents and carers in Perth and Kinross.

This event aimed to raise awareness and understanding about keeping children and young people safe from harm and abuse online and from child sexual exploitation (CSE).

Guest speakers provided presentations on making internet use safer; online radicalisation; making the most of social media and CSE. Keynote Speakers included Nazir Afzal.

Three separate sessions took place in the morning, afternoon and evening with a minimum of 489 delegates attending this annual event, compared to 622 last year.

Of those who attended this year's event, a total of 294 (60%) took time to complete an exit evaluation form prior to leaving. All the presentations and speakers were evaluated highly.

In terms of impact, the following Table provides an analysis of the individual levels of understanding prior to the event; the impact the presentations had on their understanding and learning post the event and a snapshot of practitioner feedback:

Table No: 24

Sample Size 2016: 294 (60%)

Key Practitioner Comments / Feedback:

"We need to adopt a black box approach - thinking and avoid blame; Everyone needs to do more to safeguard and protect vulnerable children; Peer to peer influencing - use all kinds of content to discuss and educate; Talk to children, listen and believe them; Important to give a child a voice; Information sharing across agencies is essential; We can all be champions of child protection; Parents need to know a lot more and how to limit children's options online and on their mobiles.

Children's Rights and Advocacy

Throughout 2015 - 2016, the Children and Youth Rights Officer (CYRO) and the Who Cares? Scotland Advocacy Worker, have worked to increase the provision of advocacy for children and young people in key decision making meetings such as Child Protection Case Conferences (CPCC) and Looked-After Children Reviews.

Throughout 2015 - 2016 we have continued to review and evaluate these arrangements.

We have reviewed and realigned their core responsibilities and we have prioritised our advocacy arrangements; particularly for those children and young people most in need of independent support and advocacy (external residential placements).

In terms of impact, the following provides an overview of some of the advocacy support and children's rights work that has been undertaken throughout 2015 - 2016:

Advocacy Support - Achievements

- 62 contact visits made to prepare and support children and young people for / at Child Protection Case Conferences
- 39 contact visits made to prepare and support children and young people for / at Looked-After Children Reviews
- 27 contact visits made to prepare and support children and young people for / at a Children's Hearing
- 25 contact visits made to support children and young people in residential placements
- 24 additional contact visits made to provide general rights and advocacy advice.

Children's Rights - Achievements

In addition to the above, the CYRO continues to carry out a wide range of other duties in relation to children's rights and respect work, including:

- bullying support work in schools (when requested by schools)
- classroom inputs on rights; respect; resilience; coping mechanisms and self-awareness
- engagement activities during school Transitions days (P7 to S1)
- support to schools to achieve Rights Respecting School Awards
- supported the development of Corporate Parenting and the Fun Young Individuals Group
- supported the organisation of a Residential Leadership Programme for Looked-After and care experienced young people; led by Columba 1400 due to commence early August 2016.

Next Steps

Over the next two years we plan to ensure that there is an increased focus on the provision of independent support for children and young people, including support for their participation within decision making meetings.

PKAVS Young Carers Project

Young Carers are children and young people who have caring responsibilities that are usually associated with an adult. For example young carers may be helping to support a family member with a physical disability, a chronic illness, mental health issues or where substance misuse is prevalent in the household. The caring role varies from home to home but these responsibilities can affect Young Carers emotionally, socially and educationally. Over half of the young carers currently being supported by PKAVS come from single parent families. Often in these scenarios, these children and young people are not only young carers, but are in fact the main carer.

PKAVS Young Carers Service aims to provide young carers with respite support, delivered through weekly groups, school holiday day trips and longer residential breaks and one to one support sessions. Staff also raise awareness of young carers and the challenges they face through advocating on their behalf at a number of statutory and voluntary forums.

It is estimated that there are as many as 1800 children and young people aged between 5 and 18 years old who have caring responsibilities living in Perth & Kinross. Currently PKAVS has 272 young carers receiving the offer of support, with a further 184 young carers having received support in the past 3 years.

A new multi-agency Perth & Kinross Young Carers Strategy 2015-2018 was launched at the Carers Conference on 4 November 2015. This strategy aims to embed a sustainable model of support for all Young Carers in Perth & Kinross. A multi-agency monitoring group will meet quarterly to review the actions set out in the strategy to ensure these are being met.

In terms of impact, the following provides an overview of some of the progress that has been made:

PKAVS Young Carers Project – Achievements

- launched the multi-agency Perth & Kinross Young Carers Strategy 2015-2018 in November 2015
- Young Carers Identification Card being piloted in Perth & Kinross in 2016. This is a long sought after request made by young carers both locally and nationally. This Identification Card should help support young carers both in Health (pharmacies etc.) and Educational settings. This card comes at a very appropriate time as The Carers (Scotland) Act 2016, which comes into force in 2017, states that professionals must engage with carers of all ages, especially at health appointments or at hospital discharge
- 47 (just over half) Perth and Kinross Schools now have a designated worker specifically to support young carers at their school and this is a significant improvement over the last 2 years
- Young Carers Landing Page Tab now included within PKAVS Carers Hub website (www.pkavscarershub.org.uk)
- Breadalbane Academy first school in P&K to launch a course within their curriculum that will be geared specifically towards supporting young carers
- on behalf of the Scottish Government's Transformation of Nursing Agenda, Perth & Kinross has been the first test area for the School Nursing Transformation Pilot, which now includes Young Carers as one of their nine key priority areas.

Impact on Staff

Evaluation: We are confident that we are developing a competent and confident workforce. Our staff are highly motivated and committed to their own continuous professional development. We are empowering and supporting our staff with a wide range of evidenced-based multi-agency learning and development opportunities, which are evaluated highly and having a positive impact on practice.

Staff Learning and Development

"Child Protection Committees are responsible for publishing, implementing and reviewing an inter-agency child protection training strategy. They should also quality assure and evaluate the impact of that training".

"Multi-agency training is an essential component in building common understanding and fostering good working relationships, which are vital to effective child protection. Child Protection Committees are well placed to help develop and deliver such training. Training on a single and an inter-agency basis can help develop the core skills needed to support effective inter-disciplinary working both on actual cases of abuse and on prevention and post-abuse programmes. Child Protection Committees should make sure mechanisms are in place for the delivery and evaluation of local training initiatives".

National Guidance for Child Protection in Scotland 2014 (Scottish Government: 2014)

Since 2012, all CPC child protection staff learning and development opportunities have been compliant with the National Framework for Child Protection Learning and Development in Scotland 2012 (Scottish Government 2012).

We are continuing to provide a wide range of inter-agency learning and development opportunities, which are evaluated highly, to the general contact workforce; specific contact workforce and the intensive contact workforce.

We continue do this in partnership with the Pan Tayside Child Protection Learning and Development Group and the Perth and Kinross Education and Children's Services (ECS) Learning Hub, which provides a one-stop shop for all ECS learning and development opportunities across Perth and Kinross. We continue to provide these opportunities in a number of ways - online; seminars; workshops and group learning activities, within our existing budget, free of charge at the point of delivery.

Conclusions

In terms of impact, this represents a significant increase in the wide range of seminars, workshops and courses we are providing to an increasing number of delegates. The number of opportunities has increased by 89% (51 in 2015 - 2016 compared with 27 in 2014 - 2015) and the number of delegates has increased by 57% (1,207 in 2015 - 2016 compared with 764 in 2014 - 2015).

The CPC continues to collate on-the-day / exit evaluations which are consistently high and has introduced an evaluation methodology in the workplace, to measure the impact of child protection learning and development opportunities on practice.

In terms of impact, the following is a snapshot of some of the feedback we have received from practitioners who have attended CPC child protection staff learning and development opportunities over the last year:

- working to develop a P&K Named Person Toolkit to support and empower practice.

Impact on the Community

Evaluation: We are confident that the CPC is transparent and public-facing; that we are providing highly evaluated public information that is accurate, relevant and useful in terms of helping to keep children and young people safe; that we are communicating, listening and actively engaging with the community, building capacity and helping to keep people safe in their communities.

Public Information, Communication and Engagement

"Perth and Kinross CPC is outward looking..... specific examples of good practice include public reporting; successfully promoting community engagement in public protection through events run in partnership with the Community Safety Partnership; effective engagement to protect children and young people with the third sector....in private schools....in on-site sports and recreational activities delivered by approved providers".

> Effectiveness of the CPC in Perth and Kinross Council Area: Report to Scottish Ministers (Emma McWilliam, Link Inspector, Care Inspectorate: March 2014)

The CPC Public Information, Communication and Engagement Strategy 2015 - 2018 continues to underpin the CPC's approach to public information, communication and community engagement. This strategy has three specific strands – information, communication and engagement. The following are key exemplars of the work the CPC has undertaken throughout 2015 and 2016 in terms of communication and engagement.

Perth and Kinross Protecting People Communications Group

Last year we reported that we had established the Perth and Kinross Protecting People Communications Group.

Membership of the group includes the Lead Officers of the Adult Support and Protection Committee (APC); Alcohol and Drug Partnership (ADP); Child Protection Committee (CPC); Violence Against Women Partnership (VAWP) and two Communications Officers from the Chief Executive's Service and Education and Children's Services respectively.

The purpose of this group is to coordinate existing public information and communication activities, with a clear focus on protecting people and keeping them safe.

In 2015 and 2016, under the auspices of this group, the following two public consultation surveys were completed by the Child Protection Committee, in partnership with the Adult Support and Protection Committee.

Protecting People Public Awareness Survey 2015

This partnership, online public consultation survey, took place between November / December 2015 and was promoted via the P&K Council Website and Corporate Social Media Accounts.

The purpose of this survey was to elicit the public's perception of, and level of confidence in, child and adult protection and to ascertain how they would access information and advice. The survey questions related equally to child protection and adult protection services.

In total, 138 members of the public took time to complete this short online survey.

In terms of impact, the following Table presents an analysis of the key findings:

Table No: 32

Conclusions

Overall this public consultation survey showed a general confidence in our public protection service provision. 76% of respondents reported they were either very confident / confident that their concerns would be taken seriously and 68% of respondent reported that they were either very confident / confident we would respond effectively. By far the majority reported that nothing would stop them from reporting such concerns. Respondents also provided honest and qualified feedback to a number of the questions and a snapshot of the recurring comments are shown above.

In terms of where they had seen information and where they would find information, respondents were provided with a menu of options, which allowed them to select multiple answers. Whilst posters and information leaflets were reported as being visible; there was strong evidence that web-based and social media based advertising was equally important in terms of the provision of public information.

As a result of this survey, the CPC will continue to provide a menu of options in relation to its public information, communication and engagement business. At the time of publication, the CPC plans to develop its website further; continues to review the arrangements for the public reporting of concerns and is exploring the potential to create CPC social media accounts.

In terms of the 26% of respondents who intimated they wished to help the CPC further with this work, the CPC has created and continues to develop a virtual community for further consultation and engagement work.

Protecting People Caller Survey 2016

This small-scale partnership survey took place between June / July 2016 and involved practitioners from the Perth and Kinross Access Team (adult protection) and practitioners from the Child Protection Duty Team (child protection) making contact with a representative sample of recent callers who had reported a worry or concern either about a child or vulnerable adult. The purpose of this survey was to elicit perceptions about the experience of callers to our child and adult protection lines.

A representative, randomised sample of recent callers was obtained; in total 30 callers to the Child Protection Line 01738 476768. Of these 30 callers, 10 (33%) were successfully contacted and agreed to take part in this small scale survey.

In terms of impact, the following Table presents an analysis of the findings from the callers to the child protection line:

concern?	No	80%

8. Would you like to take part in follow up surveys to help us improve our	Yes	20%
services to protect vulnerable people?	No	80%

Conclusions

This was a small-scale study and the findings above relate to only 10 (33%) out 30 (100%) callers who made contact with the child protection line. In many cases the callers number was unobtainable, messages were left and or remained unanswered.

The survey clearly shows that 60% of the respondents searched the internet or visited the PKC website to source the contact number to report their concern, with 80% reporting it was easy to find. The survey also showed that some of the callers had held a concern about a child or young person for at least one week before they made their call and some for a longer period; albeit some did not disclose this information when asked.

In terms of being understood, listened to, respected and being taken seriously, there was a mixed response with 50% responding positively and 50% responding negatively or not at all. Of those who responded, only 30% of respondents felt their concern had been acted upon quickly enough and by far the majority of respondents reported that they did not know what had happened with their concern. 20% of respondents intimated they wished to help the CPC further with this type of work.

At the time of publication, the CPC and the P&K Protecting People Communications Group is examining these findings which we be used to shape and develop the CPC's public information, communication and engagement strategy and plan which recognises the need to improve further the customer experience of callers.

Virtual Community

In 2015, in an attempt to increase the virtual reach of the CPC and following on from the small scale Protecting People Public Awareness Survey 2015 and Protecting People Caller Survey 2016, the CPC has started to develop a virtual community. Members of the public who have registered an interest in helping the CPC with its work, have been invited to join this small, but growing community of interested parties and it is the intention of the CPC to promote this community further and to consult community members on a wide range of child protection related matters in the future.

Since December 2015, a total of 17 members of the public have joined our virtual community and the CPC will continue to grow and develop this valuable consultation resource.

Social Media

In June / July 2016, building on the findings from the previously mentioned, small scale, Protecting People Public Awareness Survey 2015, the CPC, in partnership with Perth and Kinross Council Chief Executive's Corporate Communications Officer, developed a pilot (CPC proof of concept) social media campaign using the Council's existing Facebook and Twitter social media accounts. This pilot campaign aimed to extend the reach of the CPC and concentred on a small number of key child protection messages.

In terms of impact, the following Table presents an analysis of the key findings from the posts and tweets send on behalf of the CPC:

Conclusions

In terms of reach, this short (4 week) social media pilot campaign has had a very positive impact; with a total of 16,000 reaches and impressions across Facebook and Twitter. It clearly shows the value in the CPC making use of social media to share and exchange information in an immediate and direct way; albeit most of the campaign has largely been one-way in nature.

At the time of publication, the CPC is considering these findings further and considering whether or not to create its own social media accounts.

Child Protection Website

Last year we reported on the work to improve and consolidate the effectiveness and functionality of the Perth and Kinross Child Protection Website. Throughout 2015 - 2016 we have continued to ensure the website and the work of the CPC remains transparent and public-facing.

In terms of impact, the following Table provides some specific information on key pages within the child protection website; showing single user activity, page activity and an impact analysis between last year and this year:

Engagement with Activity Centres / Approved Providers

Approved Providers are organisations that provide on-site adventurous, sporting and recreational activities to children and young people from Perth and Kinross. Perth and Kinross Council approve these organisations, if they meet certain standards; particularly in terms of registration, health, safety and liability insurance cover. Whilst the majority of these organisations are based within Perth and Kinross, some are not. Irrespective of where they are based, the approach we have taken to their registration and approval has been the same.

Since 2012, the CPC has been working in partnership with these activity centres / approved providers to promote a culture of promoting child wellbeing and keeping children and young people protected and safe from harm and abuse. This has included support to develop robust child protection policies and procedures and providing their staff members with access to free child protection training.

Throughout this time, as a result of our radical approach, the overall number of active approved providers has continued to fluctuate. We have worked hard to support all approved providers, particularly those who are used most frequently by schools across Perth and Kinross.

Working on a RAG Matrix – GREEN – meets the requirements expected; AMBER – almost meets the requirements expected and RED – does not meet the standards expected; we are continuing to support our approved providers and we are continuing to make good progress with this partnership work aimed at keeping children and young people safe.

In terms of impact, the following Tables provide a status overview of the progress we have made @ 31 July 2016:

How good is our operational management?

This section describes how the CPC has led a range of policy and practice developments to protect children, young people and families. It describes improvements already made to key child protection policies, procedures and practices as well as planned improvements. This work aims to support competent and confident practitioners to make sound professional judgments when dealing with complex issues.

Evaluation: We are confident that our child protection services are robust, effective and focused on vulnerability, risk and need. We are working extremely hard to improve the life chances of children and young people. Practice is enabled by evidence-based policy, practice and planning improvements and multiagency practitioner learning and development opportunities.

"Strong leadership and a competent and confident workforce play a critical role in child protection. Two key issues here are the importance of leadership in local child protection, particularly with regard to the way in which services are steered by senior managers and to the professional development of those working in child protection"

"Child protection can be a complex and demanding area for staff and volunteers at all levels and requires sound professional judgements to be made. All of those involved should have access to advice and support from, for example, peers, managers or designated practitioners. Opportunities to reflect on individual and collaborative practice are particularly valuable"

"Child Protection Committees have a responsibility to identify and promote good, evidence-based policy and practice developments, address issues of poor policy and practice, and encourage learning from effective policy and practice developments"

National Guidance for Child Protection in Scotland 2014 (Scottish Government 2014)

"There is a strong culture in Perth and Kinross of continually striving for improvement, staff are actively encouraged to innovate. Mechanisms are in place to ensure that good practice is routinely identified, disseminated and celebrated. Perth and Kinross is outward looking and keen to learn from a wide range of sources including good practice elsewhere, for example, contact with other high performing CPCs"

> Effectiveness of the CPC in Perth and Kinross Council Area: Report to Scottish Ministers (Emma McWilliam, Link Inspector, Care Inspectorate: March 2014)

"Child protection committees have led significant development and activity to highlight and address the risks associated with child sexual exploitation and there are some potential areas of good practice emerging which are worthy of further exploration, validation and wider dissemination"

A report on the effectiveness of child protection arrangements in Scotland (Care Inspectorate: November 2014)

Throughout 2014 and 2015, the CPC has led a number of key child protection policy and practice developments, in collaboration with partner agencies and staff. The following are selected highlights of some of the progress and key improvements we have made to date, and plan to make, aimed at supporting and empowering a competent and confident practitioners:

Young People's Speak-Up Innovation Lab and Leadership Summit 2015

On 8 September 2015, under the auspices of Perth and Kinross Community Planning Partnership (CPP), a very successful all-day Summit was held in Perth Concert Hall. The morning session took the form of a Young People's Speak-Up Innovation Lab and the afternoon session took the form of a Leadership Summit.

Whilst the Young People's Speak-Up Innovation Lab focussed a wide range of issues important to the wellbeing of young people (as evidenced in the mosaic above), it included a focus on child sexual abuse and exploitation (CSE) and GIRFEC.

Key messages relating to both of these issues were captured in the morning session and reported back, by the young people themselves, to the Leadership Summit in the afternoon.

The key messages from the Young People's Speak-Up Innovation Lab included the following:

Young People's Speak-Up Innovation Lab: GIRFEC - Key Messages

- raise further awareness and understanding of GIRFEC
- develop wider discussions about the meaning of wellbeing
- embrace and celebrate young people's diversity (ethnicity and sexual orientation)
- support young people's mental ill-health
- promote the Named Person Service widely.

Young People's Speak-Up Innovation Lab: CSE - Key Messages

- abuse and exploitation (CSE) need to see beyond, look and listen
- involve young people in work to raise awareness and understanding of CSE
- make better use of social media; increase community engagement and develop more publicity
- CSE provide early peer-to-peer education and support
- have a greater focus on young men and boys at risk / victims of abuse and exploitation
- CSE increase staff learning and development opportunities
- develop confidential pathways and safe places to discuss CSE.

In the afternoon, 125 delegates - including Elected Members, Chief Officers and Senior Managers from Perth and Kinross CPP and the wider child protection community attended the Leadership Summit, which followed on from the Young People's Speak-Up Innovation Lab.

At this Summit, Leaders re-affirmed their commitment to creating a hostile environment and zero-tolerance of abuse and sexual exploitation across Perth and Kinross. Following on from a range of high-profile speakers, where the victim's perspective was prominent throughout, delegates had an opportunity to consider the challenges presented by, and the opportunities and solutions to tackling abuse and exploitation, including CSE. External speakers included Nazir Afzal and Jo McFarlane who gave a rendition of a specially commissioned poem It's Everyone's Job to Care.

Many of the findings were found to be similar to the feedback from the Young People's Speak-Up Innovation Lab in the morning session. The following additional points were made:

Leadership Summit - Additional Points

- continue to roll-out the NSPCC "Speak out. Stay safe. Programme"
- embrace the use of social media facebook and twitter to promote awareness
- promote the P&K CSE webpages www.pkc.gov.uk/cse
- continue to deliver the RSHP / PSE training in schools
- promote a single point of contact for all concerns including CSE
- continue to communicate raise awareness and understanding of abuse and exploitation
- provide additional support to Named Persons CSE
- continue to promote the concept it's everyone's job and a zero-tolerance approach to abuse and exploitation.

Following on from this event, the findings and feedback has been incorporated in to the revised Perth and Kinross CSE Work Plan 2016.

Perth and Kinross Masterclass: CSE - Stop To Think - See Beyond

This all-day, multi-agency event, took place in Perth on 3 February 2016. 46 delegates attended this event, which was evaluated highly.

Elected Members, Chief Officers and Senior Managers had a further opportunity to hear from a number of high-profile national and regional speakers (including Nazir Afzal), who spoke about the challenges and approaches being taken to tackle CSE across the UK and here in Scotland.

A mixture of presentations; posed questions; question and answer sessions and a workshop allowed delegates to explore and consider the challenges and solutions to CSE and from a Perth and Kinross perspective.

Many of the findings were found to be similar to the feedback from the previous Young People's Speak-Up Innovation Lab and leadership Summit. The following additional points were made:

Masterclass: CSE - Stop To Think - See Beyond - Additional Points

- CSE leadership remains key its everyone's job to care
- develop black box thinking embrace learning from what has gone wrong at every level if you notice it escalate it say something if you see something
- crucial role of first responders and first contact we need to support and empower their practice
- abuse takes place within the family home; online; within institutions and clubs and in the street develop a range of approaches and media to tackle this
- night-time economy workers develop a range of approaches and media to support them
- develop information sharing and intelligence gathering toolkits
- improve joint investigative interviews quality assure them
- improve the quality of return interviews missing young people and young runaways
- keep a focus on learning disabilities greater risks
- keep a focus on boys and men can be victims of CSE too.

Delegates also had an opportunity to contribute towards the development of the Perth and Kinross Pathfinder: Stop To Listen (STL), a joint initiative with Children 1st and took part in a workshop to consider what (if any) culture and practice changes needed to be made in Perth and Kinross in relation to this work.

Following on from this event, the findings and feedback have been incorporated into the revised Perth and Kinross CSE Work Plan 2016.

Perth and Kinross Pathfinder : Stop To Listen (STL)

In 2015, Perth and Kinross was successfully appointed as one of four Scottish Local Authority Pathfinder areas for this national initiative (others being - Glasgow, North Ayrshire and Renfrewshire), which is being led by Children 1st.

The aim of this work is to improve the way in which we work alongside children and young people by building strong and trusting relationships to create a system for encouraging disclosures about sexual abuse from children and young people. It will give children and young people more control over, and involvement in, the process of investigation and evidence gathering. It goes at their own pace as far as possible; responds to their own fears about disclosure and gains their trust; while offering them support throughout the process.

As a pilot area we are committed to:

• offering children and young people a better means of finding safety and support that upholds and respects their rights, by allowing space for their voices to be heard and for their best interests to be taken into account

- creating a truly child-centred child protection system that responds to children and young people's own development, fears and behaviours and is guided by the child or young person
- enabling children and young people to determine their own pace with respect to talking about abuse and supporting them to overcome potential fears relating to disclosing what has happened to them
- improving the quality of evidence-gathering through child-centred practice and through reducing fears, which could lead to retractions of evidence
- raising the morale and sense of efficacy of professionals involved in child protection.

Feedback from the Young People's Speak-Up Innovation Lab: Leadership Summit; CSE Masterclass and the Joint Meeting of the CYP&FP and the CPC has now identified Joint Investigative Interviewing and Peer-to-Peer Mentoring as the two practice areas for change for the pathfinder work in Perth and Kinross.

At the time of publication we have now established a Perth and Kinross STL Steering Group and we are playing a major part in shaping and developing this initiative.

Perth and Kinross Child Sexual Exploitation (CSE) Working Group

Last year we reported upon the establishment of the above multiagency P&K CSE Working Group in February 2015, following publication of the Independent Inquiry Report into Child Sexual Exploitation in Rotherham 1997 - 2013 (Professor Alexis Jay: August 2014) and publication of Scotland's National Action Plan to tackle Child Sexual Exploitation (Scottish Government: 11 November 2014).

Since then, we have provided comprehensive CSE briefings and reports to Elected Members (Full Council) and to the Chief Officers per the Children, Young People and Families Partnership (CYP&FP).

Membership of this Working Group is being kept under constant review and clear Terms of Reference remain in place.

On 1 April 2015, we published the P&K CSE Work Plan 2015, which contained a wide range of improvement actions / tasks under four specific workstreams: Prevention; Intervention; Prosecution and Disruption; and Recovery and have made good progress with implementing this Work Plan.

Following on from the Young People's Speak-Up Innovation Lab; Leadership Summit; CSE Masterclass and the Joint Meeting of the CYP&FP, we have taken the opportunity to review this Work Plan and have published a revised P&K CSE Work Plan for 2016.

In terms of impact, a recent review by the P&K CSE Working Group has identified the following as our key achievements since August 2015:

Joint Learning and Development Session

At the request of the Head of Services for Children, Young People and Families, on 20 January 2016, a joint learning and development session was held for child protection practitioners from the Perth and Kinross Child Protection Duty Team (PKC - CPDT), Out of Hours Service (PKC - OOHS) and the Public Protection Unit (Police Scotland).

The aim of this event was to support joint working; to develop shared approaches to solving problems; to securing continuous improvement; to promote a deeper understanding of the distinct and shared roles and responsibilities of the three teams and explore how greater collaboration can be achieved. The day was also to provide an opportunity to consider how current practices can be enhanced to take forward Getting it Right in Perth and Kinross. More specifically to:

- focus on developing an appreciation and better understanding of each other's roles and responsibilities
- consider what, if anything, stands in the way of undertaking these roles
- identify what would improve each other's ways of working
- learn and improve by way of a case study.

In total 21 practitioners attended this facilitated and positively evaluated event - 6 from the CPDT; 6 from OOHS and 9 from the PPU. Having identified and described to each other the key strengths and the many positive aspects of their individual and shared child protection working arrangements; the participants were also able to reflect on key areas for continuous improvement and change.

The following is a snapshot of some of the suggested mutual policy and practice areas which would benefit from further improvement and change:

- inter-agency referral discussions (IRDs)
- joint investigative interviewing and training
- screening and recording of child concern reports (wellbeing and child protection)
- 16 18 years at risk of abuse and exploitation
- co-location and joined-up working arrangements
- access to IT systems and increased information sharing.

In terms of impact, the following is a snapshot of comments from participants of this joint learning and development session, which capture the overall learning value of this event. A further event is planned for autumn 2016:

Joint Learning and Development Session - Comments / Feedback

"provided a networking opportunity to improve collaborative working" "understand the challenges we all face working in child protection" "understand the importance of slick information sharing" "understand the strengths and weaknesses of partners and expectations" "reinforced that communication is key to what we do"

Significant Case Review (SCR): Grooming in an Early Years Nursery Seminar

Last year we reported on a Practitioner Seminar which took place on 21 November 2014. 89 delegates, including numerous representatives from partner agency HR and Recruitment Departments, attended this event which they evaluated very highly.

Presented by Norman Dunning, former Independent Chair of South Lanarkshire CPC, delegates were provided with a powerful presentation which described the circumstances, challenges and opportunities presented by this SCR. At this event, existing recruitment and appointment procedures were discussed; the presenter posed many thought provoking questions; answered numerous questions from the delegates and a number of learning points were identified.

Following on from this event, in March 2016, a Post-Event Workplace Evaluation took place and 15 (17%) of those who attended the event took time to complete the survey evaluation.

In terms of impact, the following is a snapshot of comments made by the respondents:

As a direct result of this event and as a further example of impact, PKC Employment Services (Recruitment Team) has made significant improvements to their recruitment and selection practices for all PKC staff and has introduced new additional measures for those applying to take up regulated posts.

These new measures include guidance for validating previous work histories; right to work and document checklists. New practices for interviewing have been introduced for roles which involve working with children or vulnerable groups and requires the individual to be a member of the PVG scheme.

There is now a requirement on the recruiting manager to explore a candidate's attitudes, beliefs and motives for working with such groups and to reinforce that PKC are protecting citizens from potential harm. Safeguarding questions are now used in all interviews. In addition, a Digital Learning Module – Right to Work, Document Awareness - has also been developed.

GOPR Training Champions

Last year we reported on the development of our P&K Practitioners Guide and Toolkit: GOPR. This was joint work we had taken forward in partnership with the ADP, APC and 250 local managers and practitioners from public, private and voluntary sectors across Perth and Kinross, who had attended a series of multi-agency practitioner events, which they had evaluated highly.

In 2015, following a local recruitment campaign, 17 multi-agency practitioners and managers from the public, private and third sectors came forward voluntarily and having successfully completed a two-day GOPR Training-for-Trainers Course, became P&K GOPR Champions. This Training-for-Trainers Course was evaluated highly.

In terms of impact, the following Table present a snapshot of the key comments and feedback from this GOPR Champion Training:

GOPR Champion Training - Comments / Feedback

"I feel I have learned a huge amount about the GOPR materials and about myself"

"a great mix of information given and collaborative learning"

"I better understand GOPR and the associated toolkit and how this would support practitioners and communities alike"

"I am glad I have been given this opportunity and I look forward to taking this forward"

In spring 2016, locality-based, multi-agency, half-day GOPR training events commenced and at the time of publication, 5 such events have taken place and 72 multi-agency practitioners and managers have attended. The training has been evaluated highly and further training events are planned from September 2016.

Review of the Multi-Agency Screening Group (MASG)

Last year we reported on the review and evaluation of the Perth and Kinross Multi-Agency Screening Group (MASG), which was first established on 6 November 2012.

When established, MASG provided us with an opportunity to share, risk and assess police child concern reports and unborn baby referrals from health services with partners agencies.

MASG was also seen as a significant improvement upon our previous information sharing and screening arrangements and allowed us to develop a more holistic approach to joint investigations, assessment and planning. In 2015, a MASG Review and Evaluation Report identified key strengths and areas for development and made 17 recommendations to the CPC. An Improvement Plan was agreed and all of this work was completed by February 2016.

Since then, further preparations have been made in response to key GIRFEC provisions contained within The Children and Young People (Scotland) Act 2014 relating to the sharing of relevant information with Named Persons due to commence on 31 August 2016.

A multi-agency MASG Re-Design Working Group has been established to support and empower practice and practitioners and to safeguard, support and promote the wellbeing of children and young people under 18 years.

Re-Design of MASG – Possible Next Steps

- re-design, re-configure and re-name the MASG
- future-proof the work of the MASG against emerging legislation, policy and practice developments
- establish how the revised MASG interfaces with existing partnership arrangements e.g. Lead Professionals; CAPSM / GOPR; Unborn Baby Referrals to Early Years Screening Group
- ensure the work of the revised MASG safeguards, complies with relevant legislation and the welfare of all children and young people (pre-birth to 18 years of age)
- ensure the work of the revised MASG can assist, support and empower the Named Person Service when this is implemented
- develop a robust response to the needs of 16 18 year old who may be at risk
- develop new ways for the coordination of wellbeing concerns as part of the child protection arrangements
- promote consistent and proportionate information sharing and recording practices complaint with data protection legislation
- maintain the collation of performance management information
- review and revise the P&K Screening and Inter-Agency Referral Discussion (IRD) and CPC Inter-Agency Child Protection Guidelines.

How good is our leadership?

This section describes our collective approach to leadership, direction, support, challenge and scrutiny. It describes how we are promoting effective and collaborative partnership working to deliver the best possible outcomes for children and young people. It also describes our commitment to continuous improvement through self-evaluation and our capacity for further improvement across Perth and Kinross.

Evaluation: We are confident that our individual and collective approach to leadership, direction, support, challenge, scrutiny and joint partnership working is effective and robust and that our commitment to continuous improvement through self-evaluation is providing better outcomes for children and families across Perth and Kinross.

"A growing number of chief officers' groups have reviewed and strengthened structures and governance arrangements for public protection comprising child and adult protection, and the management of sex offenders. This is aimed both at improving the scrutiny and challenge of performance across public protection and at firming up wider connections across relevant strategic areas such as domestic abuse, violence against women, and drug and alcohol partnerships"

"Collective leadership for public protection is leading to new integrated approaches and better coordinated efforts to protect and support groups that are vulnerable and at risk. There are notable illustrations of positive joint working across strategic groups and some possible areas of good practice worthy of further exploration. For example, the establishment of joint working groups on behalf of adult and child protection committees in relation to raising public awareness and multi-agency training and development of staff"

A report on the effectiveness of child protection arrangements in Scotland (Care Inspectorate: November 2014)

"The governance and accountability arrangements between the Community Planning Partnership (CPP) and the CPC are clear. The CPC is directly accountable to the C&YPSG. There is a very strong culture of challenge in Perth and Kinross Council with regular and robust scrutiny of the work of the CPC. There is strong evidence of effective leadership and direction resulting in continuous improvement in high performing public protection services and in the effectiveness of the CPC"

What is our capacity for improvement?

"We found encouraging signs that chief officers and child protection committees are striving for excellence in the protection of children and young people and that the capacity for improvement overall is high. In those areas showing signs of highly effective performance, leaders provide strong direction and collective ownership of shared values for delivering the best possible outcomes for children and young people in need of protection"

"Our link inspectors will build on these conclusions and provide the necessary support and challenge to community planning partnerships, chief officers and child and adult protection committees to effect continuous improvement. They will offer support to build capacity for joint self-evaluation using recognised quality improvement frameworks and carry out work to validate areas of good practice, focusing particularly in those aspects which represent the biggest challenges across Scotland"

> A report on the effectiveness of child protection arrangements in Scotland (Care Inspectorate: November 2014)

"The CPC have identified very ambitious priorities for improvement in the coming year. Based on past performance, there is good reason to be confident that partners have the drive and determination to achieve their stated objectives"

Effectiveness of the CPC in Perth and Kinross Council Area: Report to Scottish Ministers (Emma McWilliam, Link Inspector, Care Inspectorate: March 2014)

Perth and Kinross CPC can demonstrate a long and well-established commitment to continuous improvement through self-evaluation, as evidenced throughout this report. We know how good we are now and how good we can be.

Through strong leadership, direction, challenge, support and scrutiny; effective partnership working; a wide range of joint self-evaluation activities and workshops; engagement and feedback from service users; joint-working with other high-performing CPC areas; benchmarking exercises and local practitioner events helps us to conclude again that our capacity for improvement remains very strong.

Underpinning the work of the CPC is a robust continuous improvement through self-evaluation programme.

Last year we committed ourselves to developing and implemented a three-year CPC Improvement Plan 2015 - 2018 (published on 29 March 2016). A comprehensive update (published on 31 July 2016) on this plan can be found at Appendix 5.

We also committed ourselves to an ambitious three-year programme of improvement and identified the following as high priority actions / tasks for 2015 – 2016:

CPC High Priority Actions / Tasks 2015 – 2016 (Year 1)

- develop a management information and performance outcome framework with a particular focus on key outcome measures
- develop a zero-tolerance and preventative approach to child sexual exploitation and other harmful practices
- develop our communications strategy for protecting people and keeping children and young people safe
- develop our advocacy arrangements and methods of engagement with children, young people and families

- develop our screening and management arrangements through the multi-agency steering group and fully implement the MASG improvement plan
- develop the consistency of single and integrated chronologies and integrated assessments for children and young people at risk
- develop a child's plan and continue to align and embed GIRFEC and the provisions of The Children and Young People (Scotland) Act 2014
- continue to implement all the actions / tasks in the CPC Improvement Plan 2015 - 2018.

We are confident that this report evidences and demonstrates clearly that we have made significant progress and improvements on all of the above commitments.

In terms of our ongoing three-year programme of improvement, we have identified the following high level actions / task which will underpin the work of the CPC in 2016 - 2017:

CPC High Priority Actions / Tasks 2016 – 2017 (Year 2)

- further refine the management information and performance outcome framework to enhance the scrutiny and governance of performance
- refine our approach to quality assurance and self-evaluation using recognised frameworks
- ensure our quality assurance and self-evaluation programme continues to focus on key processes including decision making, but places more emphasis on impact
- continue to review and revise our existing CPC policies; procedures; protocols; guidelines and information leaflets to ensure compliance with new legislative and policy changes
- continue to embrace the opportunities and challenges presented by organisational change; transformational change; partnership working and integration
- continue to develop our public information, communication and engagement strategy and communications plan and make better use of the opportunities presented by the use of social media
- continue to embed the provisions of GIRFEC and The Children and Young People (Scotland) Act 2014 to safeguard, support and promote wellbeing - including the wellbeing of 16 - 18 years, who may be at risk
- re-design the multi-agency screening group (MASG) as required to ensure compliance with The Children and Young People (Scotland) Act 2014
- continue to support professional judgement and empower practitioners in terms of information sharing; GOPR; CSE; chronologies; assessments and planning
- develop the P&K Stop To Listen Pathfinder, in terms of joint investigative interviewing and peer-to-peer mentoring
- continue to implement the Year 2 priorities within the P&K CPC Improvement Plan 2015 - 2018 and the P&K CSE Work Plan 2016.

Police Scotland was formally established on 1 April 2013 and is responsible for policing across the length and breadth of Scotland, some 28,168 square miles. Police Scotland is the second largest force in the UK, after the Metropolitan Police. Police Scotland's purpose is to improve the safety and wellbeing of people, places and communities in Scotland. The focus is on Keeping People Safe which is at the heart of everything that they do. There are 13 local policing divisions, each headed by a Local Police Commander who ensures that local policing in each area is responsive, accountable and tailored to meet local needs¹⁰.

Tayside Division serves approximately 388,000 people over 2,896 square miles, covering the City of Dundee, Angus and Perth and Kinross council areas. The Division has 3 territorial command areas – one each for Dundee, Angus and Perth and Kinross. Each area has a dedicated Area Commander who has the responsibility for all day-to-day policing functions in that area. Each area is served by a number of community policing teams. These teams are built around the needs of local people. They are responsible for responding to calls in the local area, as well as looking for long term solutions to key issues ^{11.}

Perth and Kinross Area Command covers an area of 2,000 square miles and is home to 134,949 people (2001 census). The main centres of population are Perth, Blairgowrie, Crieff, Kinross and Pitlochry¹². Policing across Perth and Kinross is delivered in compliance with the Police Scotland: Perth and Kinross Local Policing Plan 2014 - 2017.

Scottish Children's Reporter Administration (SCRA) is a national body formed in 1996. Its main responsibilities are to facilitate the work of Children's Reporters, to deploy and manage staff to carry out that wok, and to provide accommodation for Children's Hearings. The Children's Hearings System provides the operational setting in which SCRA and partner agencies work. The aim is to provide a safety net for vulnerable children and deliver tailored solutions which meet the needs of the individuals involved, while helping to build stronger families and safer communities. SCRA also works collaboratively with partners to support and facilitate the Getting it Right For Every Child (GIRFEC) agenda.

The role of the Reporter is to:

- receive referrals for children and young people who are believed to require compulsory measures of supervision;
- decide whether the child or young person needs to be referred to a Hearing, and if so draft a statement of grounds;

- provide administration to Children's Hearings and keep a record of proceedings at Hearings;
- maintain the independence of Hearings and support fair process; and
- conduct Children's Hearings court proceedings.

The Reporter's primary function is to receive referrals for children and young people who are believed to require compulsory measures of supervision. The Reporter then decides whether the child or young person should be referred to a Children's Hearing.

SCRA has nine localities, supported by a Head Office. The nine localities are: Highlands & Islands, North Strathclyde, Glasgow, Grampian, South East, Tayside & Fife, Ayrshire, Central, and Lanarkshire/Dumfries & Galloway.¹³ The service to Perth is provided by the Tayside Fife Locality. It is the Glenrothes office that provides the service to Perth & Kinross, contact details are on the SCRA website.

The SCRA website provides information and resources for families and professionals. There is also information for partners guidance on referral to the Reporter – information for partners which is a valuable resource for anyone considering whether to refer a child to SCRA. SCRA service to Perth and Kinross is provided from the Tayside and Fife Locality, which has sites in a Dundee and Glenrothes. The Children's Hearings Centre in Perth continues to hold on average 170 hearings sessions throughout the year.

Children's Hearings Scotland (CHS) is a public body. It was established in July 2011 by children's The Children's Hearings (Scotland) Act 2011 and became fully operational on 24 June 2013. The Act aims to improve the lives, outcomes and opportunities of Scotland's most vulnerable children and young people. In relation to CHS, the Act:

- created the role of National Convener, to act as a figurehead for Scotland's 2,700 volunteer panel members, to ensure they are consistently supported to a high standard
- created CHS as a dedicated national body, to support the National Convener in the delivery of functions related to the recruitment, selection, appointment, training, retention and support of panel members
- empowered the National Convener to establish a national Children's Panel
- empowered the National Convener to establish Area Support Teams, with the consent of each local authority, to be responsible for managing and supporting the national panel at local level.

Under the Act, the National Convener of CHS has a number of duties. These include:

- recruitment, appointment and reappointment of panel members
- making arrangements for the training of panel members
- managing the 22 Area Support Teams
- appointment and reappointment of Area Support Team members
- providing advice to children's hearings
- publishing annually a report about the implementation of compulsory supervision orders (the feedback loop)¹⁴.
