Annual Report

2015-2016

INTRODUCTION

I am pleased to introduce the 2015-16 Annual report of the Multi Agency Public Protection Arrangements (MAPPA) across Tayside which is published as a statutory responsibility in order to promote public awareness of the work being undertaken to manage certain offenders in the community.

The last Annual Report anticipated that legislation would be introduced to include a wider group of offenders in the MAPPA process i.e. those who by reason of their conviction are considered to represent a risk of serious harm however this was delayed until March 2016 consequently significant work was undertaken by the Responsible Authorities over the last year to prepare for this. We have, at the same time, reviewed the findings of the national Thematic Review of MAPPA across Scotland, a process which was welcomed by the Strategic Oversight Group and an action plan detailing planned improvements has been developed.

MAPPA is a well-established partnership across Tayside and through the MAPPA Strategic Oversight Group, we remain committed to maintaining partnerships and evaluating performance to ensure we are working to minimise risk and better protect communities across Tayside.

THE LAST 12 MONTHS

Thematic Review Findings

During 2015, the Care Inspectorate and HM Inspectorate of Constabulary in Scotland undertook a Thematic Review of MAPPA to review how well the public is protected by the arrangements for assisting and managing sex offenders in our communities. The Responsible Authorities and key partners participated fully in the local review which reported in November 2015.

The report highlighted that MAPPA is well-established across Scotland and that responsible authorities, through joint working and information sharing, discharge their duties effectively under the terms required by the Management of Offenders etc. (Scotland) Act 2005. The full report can be accessed here Joint Thematic Review of MAPPA in Scotland - 2015.pdf and makes 10 recommendations for progression nationally which are being led by Scottish Government. There are 17 other areas for development for local consideration and improvement as necessary. As this is a national report, not all areas for improvement related directly to Tayside and the Tayside MAPPA Strategic Oversight Group has mapped our local performance against the areas for improvement identified a summary of which is included at Appendix 2.

The Tayside MAPPA Strategic Oversight Group includes representation from the three local authorities of Angus, Dundee and Perth and Kinross, Police Scotland, Scottish Prison Service (SPS), NHS Tayside and Victim Support. Partners have developed an agreed an improvement plan to further improve local arrangements.

Implementation of MAPPA Extension

During the year, responsible authorities have worked with Scottish Government to prepare for the management of a wider range of offenders through MAPPA. We have tested our local systems to ensure these are robust and both social work and Police Scotland staff have received additional training.

From 31 March 2016, MAPPA has been extended beyond registered sex offenders and restricted patients to include those offenders assessed as posing a risk of serious harm. The definition of the categories of offender managed through MAPPA is available at www.gov.scot/Resource/0049/00495086.pdf

Whilst responsible authorities and other key partners have had long standing local arrangements in place to ensure a partnership approach to managing high risk offenders in their areas, the extension of MAPPA to include other offenders gives a consistent approach to the management of relevant offenders across all local authority and police divisional areas, providing a framework for assessing and managing the risk posed by those offenders. To prepare for this extensive training, delivered by the Risk Management Authority, was undertaken by Criminal Justice Social workers and Police Offender management officers.

Strategic Public Protection Links

The MAPPA Co-ordinator continues to link to with Lead Officers for Child Protection, Adult Support and Protection and Violence Against Women across Tayside and provides regular updates to inform local Chief Officer Groups of key issues and developments to promote the co-ordination and consistency of developments and identify areas for collaboration. Statistical information is provided to each local authority to identify trends and areas for ongoing need.

It is of note that the NHS MAPPA Liaison Officer post was highlighted as an example of good practice in the Thematic Review for enabling the facilitation of information sharing relating to health and the management of risk.

CORE STATISTICS

As of 31 March 2016, 369 Registered Sex Offenders have been managed in the community across Tayside, 133 (36%) of whom are subject to statutory supervision by Criminal Justice Social Work and managed jointly with Police Scotland. The overall figures breakdown is as follows:

- ANGUS 102
- DUNDEE 168
- PERTH & KINROSS 99

In 2015/16, 357 (97%) complied with registration requirements. Twelve offenders (3%) were returned to prison for a breach of supervision requirements, and six (1%) were convicted of committing further serious crimes.

Further statistical information is attached at Appendix 1.

FUTURE DEVELOPMENTS

The following priorities have been identified for 2016/17:

- To progress work on the areas for development identified in the national Thematic Review
- To ensure all relevant staff have access to training in the use of risk assessments required for the management of offenders through MAPPA
- To further develop the MAPPA operational group to support self-evaluation and local implementation of MAPPA developments

CASE STUDY

The following case study offers an insight into the operation of MAPPA in Tayside. The details have been changed to ensure confidentiality.

THE CONVICTION

Following conviction for the possession of indecent images of children and a direct sexual offence against a primary aged child, Mr Z was sentenced to imprisonment and a period of supervision on his release. He was also required to register his details with the Police for an indefinite period.

MR Z – A PERSONAL STATEMENT

From an early age I felt that I was sexually attracted to female children. As I grew older I remained attracted to this age group and tried to stop myself from getting close to any of them for a period of time.

I eventually became attracted to a female child that visited my house who was friendly with my own sons. I knew this was wrong but this was how I felt.

I reported to a social worker that I had feelings for this female child. I was instructed not to have any contact and I managed that for a period of time until I began to contact her again. At this time I was accessing images of children on the internet and would do this when no one was about.

After the female child's social worker informed the Police I was visited and my computer was removed which after a lengthy period of time led me to being charged. I attended court, pled guilty and was sentenced to a period in prison with a supervision requirement upon my release. On release I was in supported accommodation and began the process of rebuilding my life.

I am involved with Social Work on a weekly basis and this challenges me to address my thinking and look at my behaviour. Whilst this is challenging for me it is also helped in that this is supporting me with my goal of not reoffending. As part of my supervision I have also to attend a specific sex offender treatment group twice a week to address my specific offences. I have found this very challenging but feel this is a major part in assisting me rebuilding my life. This process takes about 200 sessions over a period of time and whilst I am only 40 sessions in I find this helpful to look at all aspects of my life.

I have visits from Offender Management at the Police who look at my computer and phone and also assist with what I require for my registration process.

Whilst I am not sure what the futures holds I feel as though I am better suited to serve a more purposeful life. I hope I with the ongoing support I receive I learn to address my thoughts and feelings and this will allow me to progress throughout my life.

CRIMINAL JUSTICE SOCIAL WORKER

I became Mr Z's allocated worker while he was serving the custodial part of his sentence. I visited him in custody and attended his pre-release meeting. I believe I have a dual role of supporting Mr Z to reintegrate safely into the community and minimise the risk of further harm to others. This necessitated identifying suitable accommodation and ensuring registration requirements are adhered to on release. Mr Z had been assessed suitable to attend the Tay Project which is a nationally accredited sex offender specific treatment programme however he reported high levels of anxiety associated with anything involving going out and about and/or interacting with people. Thus several months were simply spent building an effective working relationship with Mr Z in order that he trust staff enough to engage with the challenges we set him in order to move forward in his life. Initially these were small aims such as attending office appointments, going shopping for groceries, working on his attitude and sometimes rudeness with staff. We then progressed to groupwork and deliberately introduced a co-worker who facilitated the first group Mr Z attended which is designed to prepare people for future groups and thus focuses on developing participants social skills, communication and overall confidence in a group setting.

Mr Z then went on to undertake work with the Tay Project. Alongside the preparatory work we had been completing the Moving Forward Making Changes (MFMC) pre-group work – by incorporating this into his daily life experiences so he could relate to the material better. I continue to see Mr Z on a weekly basis to compliment the work he is undertaking with the Tay Project – namely to encourage and support him to evidence his learning from MFMC by seeing that he is applying it to his everyday life. I also believe it is my role to continue encouraging Mr Z and reinforcing the positive steps he takes. Ultimately I believe I will have successfully carried out my role if Mr Z can self-manage his own risk and thus does not re-offend again.

All of this work is undertaken while never losing sight of the potential risk of harm Mr Z could cause to others. It is a very challenging and often difficult balance to achieve as ultimately Mr Z is developing trust in me and I use the information he provides to continually assess him and, if necessary, can use this information to breach his licence and potentially deprive him of his freedom. Obviously these decisions are not undertaken in isolation as I work closely with all key agencies, namely Police, Tay Project, Scottish Prison Service, Housing, Children's Services and the Third Sector.

As we approach the later stages of Mr Z's licence my role will increasingly involve preparing Mr Z for the ending of our working relationship whilst ensuring he has established a realistic plan to ensure the safety of himself and others and other appropriate supports that he can use when faced with challenges. Finally, I hope that by having carried out my role successfully Mr Z will have greater insight in understanding himself and his offending behaviour and with this insight and ideally a new more positive belief in life and himself he will have hope and a desire to continue to lead an offence free lifestyle.

HOUSING PROVIDER

Mr Z was homeless on release from prison, as he had to terminate his previous tenancy on sentencing. An assessment of his housing needs was completed prior to his release and identified he would benefit from an initial period of accommodation with support on release from prison. He reported because of depression and social anxiety he struggled to motivate himself to complete day to day tasks. He also reported having difficulties writing and spelling so needed some support with form filling and dealing with correspondence.

Supported homeless accommodation was identified for his release. The accommodation had support staff available 24/7 and they were able to help him with benefit claims and provide general advice and guidance when needed. He was isolated and not familiar with the area so benefited from the reassurance and support from the onsite staff. When he and the staff felt he was confident in managing his tenancy independently, an offer of permanent mainstream housing was identified and the staff continued to offer support on an outreach basis to help him set up and settle into his new home.

When looking for accommodation for offenders the responsible authorities carry out an environmental risk assessment to identify any housing related risks, areas examined are : the offender, the offence, the proposed property, location and nearby households. By looking at all the information the responsible authorities can make informed decisions in the management of the offender. By placing the offender in supported accommodation there is the added tier of further protection with 24 hour staff helping to reduce the risk.

This process was carried out on both occasions for Mr Z, initially when he came out of prison and moved in to the supported accommodation and then when he went into his own accommodation.

OFFENDER MANAGEMENT OFFICER, POLICE SCOTLAND

It is my role to ensure that Mr Z complies with all the obligations placed upon him in respect of the Sexual Offences Act 2003 and his notification requirements. To date he has complied with all that has been asked of him. I have been involved in the management and monitoring of Mr Z since his release from prison.

During this time I have had several lengthy discussions with him regarding his attraction to children and the concerns this raises. In the early stages of my involvement with Mr Z much of the work was centred on his emotional attachment to his victim and the concern that this may override the restrictions preventing contact with children.

It has taken some time for Mr Z to become less guarded when speaking to me but this is perhaps understandable given the questions being asked relate to matters he has clearly struggled with all his life.

There have been many ups and downs with regards Mr Z's depression and low moods which again appear linked with his acceptance of who and what he is. I feel that Mr Z has a very good insight into his attraction to children and how to cope with it. I have been honest and with him from the beginning and made it clear that there is support and help if he requires it or is struggling with anything however his current restrictions are in place for a reason and to protect the public, and any breach of them will result in his return to prison. Mr Z appears to respond well to a direct and upfront approach and I feel I have a decent working rapport with him.

I have also spoken to him on several occasions about his low moods and depression and along with his Criminal Justice Social Worker feel that we have managed to get him to a place where he is more willing to accept help and engage with work around his low self-esteem and offence focus work.

My level of contact has decreased since his release which is largely due to the progress Mr Z has made and the good level of engagement he continues to show.

TAY PROJECT SOCIAL WORKER

The 'Moving Forward: Making Changes' (MFMC) intervention is a nationally accredited programme for the treatment of men convicted of sexual offending who are assessed as posing a medium or high risk of reoffending. The aim of the programme is to reduce the re-offending of men convicted of sexually motivated offences, and increase their opportunities and capacities for meeting needs by non-offending means.

This is done by helping the individual and those assisting and managing them to understand the factors that are relevant to their risk and how these factors interact. Giving the individual the opportunity to address the factors most relevant to their offending, and helping the individual and those supporting them to develop future plans, so they can lead their lives in pro-social ways without causing sexual harm to others.

After completing preparatory programme work, Mr Z joined a group in January 2016. The group is scheduled to run twice weekly, and since commencement Mr Z has now participated in close to 40 sessions. In doing so he has completed the majority of work drawn from the programme's mandatory material. This has required him to reflect on aspects of his life, both past and current, that research shows is relevant in predicting sexual repeated reoffending. On completion of the essential material, the information gathered from this will be used as the basis of a risk informed formulation. During which it will be decided which of the programme optional modules Mr Z will benefit from working through.

In addition, participation in the group has placed Mr Z in an environment where he has been required to engage with others. It is considered that the mutually supportive culture fostered within the group has offered a rare opportunity for him to experience the reciprocal giving and receiving of support. Further, the non-judgemental culture within the group has enabled him to engage with the programme in an open and honest manner; which in turn has encouraged him to better understand himself and his offending behaviour, and to recognise problems in his life that he recognises the benefits in continuing to address. This has been particularly valuable in giving Mr Z the opportunity to explore his sexual interests, in a unique environment where this can be considered honestly.

MAPPA CO-ORDINATOR

Whilst Mr Z was still serving his sentence in prison I received a referral from Scottish Prison Service detailing Mr Z's crimes and a report concerning his time spent in custody. Prior to his release I co-ordinated a meeting of all agencies who would be working with Mr Z to prepare for his release and his the time in the community. At this meeting the risk posed by Mr Z was discussed and a robust risk management plan was put in place to ensure the protection of the vulnerable in our community.

MAPPA meetings continue to be held and the agencies working with Mr Z maintain and update the risk management plan in place for him.

As co-ordinator it is my job to ensure that the risk management plan is appropriate and robust to manage the risks posed by Mr Z and that it is reviewed within relevant timescales and all the agencies involved in his management are fully sighted of all aspects of his life.

TAYSIDE MAPPA STRATEGIC OVERSIGHT GROUP REVIEW OF NATIONAL AREAS FOR DEVELOPMENT

1. Responsible authorities should ensure that all Stable and Acute 07 assessments are current and updated in accordance with national guidance and circulars.
2. We encourage responsible authorities to explore best practice approaches to ensure that staff are equipped to assess the risks and needs of female sex offenders.
3. Strategic Oversight Group's should ensure that members of staff have the required knowledge and skills to undertake the assessment of the risk posed by young people subject to MAPPA. **
4. Whilst overall, MAPPA meetings were well planned and effective; we identified a number of areas for development which, if addressed, could improve the overall efficiency of the process. These are outlined in chapter 2 page 25 and include: attendance, scrutiny of minutes and actions, use of pre-information sharing and training.
5. As a result of the increasing number of internet related sex offenders becoming subject to MAPPA, early intervention and diversionary approaches aimed at addressing the risk posed by such offenders should be further scoped by responsible authorities in partnership with the Scottish Government.
6. Strategic Oversight Group's should ensure that MAPPA forms part of an integrated public protection strategy. **
7. Strategic Oversight Group's and responsible authorities should develop and implement a more structured approach to self-assessment.
8. Strategic Oversight Group's should introduce a mechanism which ensures that staff from responsible authorities are provided with key information regarding the strategic direction of MAPPA and have an opportunity to contribute to organisational development.
9. Strategic Oversight Group's should explore additional opportunities for the delivery of multi-agency training.
10. We found evidence of strong local engagement where co-location of staff responsible for delivery of MAPPA was established, providing an enriched understanding of roles, responsibilities and enhanced partnership working. **
11. It is essential that Strategic Oversight Group's review Information Sharing Protocols to ensure that registered social landlords are clear on their responsibilities and have signed relevant agreements.
12. Where the NHS had an integrated single point of contact at the Strategic Oversight Group for all MAPPA related matters, we saw enhanced information exchange which had a positive impact on risk management planning. **
13. Strategic Oversight Group's and NHS should deliver additional introductory level training for health and care staff. **
14. Health Boards should ensure that there is an appropriate long term arrangement in place to maintain compliance with ViSOR standards. **
15. The SPS should monitor and maintain the continued improvement in the use of ViSOR.
16. Responsible authorities in partnership with the Strategic Oversight Group should provide opportunities to raise awareness of the release processes, including the role of the Parole Board, in order to enhance planning and mitigate risk for those released into communities.
17. The process of engagement with victim support services could be further improved through involvement with Strategic Oversight Group Chairs at a national level. **

 denotes the areas where the responsible authorities in Tayside are satisfied that we already have measures in place to support these recommendations and are in a strong position to deliver on the recommendation.
